THE STORY OF A REFUGEE.—The Washington Chronicle says: "A week ago, as one of the agents of the Sanitary Commission visited, as was his custom, the hospital boat upon its arrival from City Point, at the Sixth street wharf, he found on board a refugee named Joseph Burton, with a wife and family of six children. The man, who was about fifty-eight years old, was in a very enfeebled condition. The agent procured an ambulance and had him conveyed to the Sanitary Home, near the Baltimore Depot, where he lingered until Thursday, when he died. From the widow we learn that the family resided in Prince George county, Virginia, three miles below Fort Powhattan, on the James river, and but for the kindness of our Government officials they and their little ones must have starved, for they have had nothing to eat for months but such food as was supplied by order of the Government; that on the 10th of October last, at midnight, two men, well known to them, but who resided within the enemy's lines, some fifteen miles away, came to their house, and under threats of instant death in case of refusal, ordered the husband to prepare at once to go to Richmond. He pretended to be busy himself on the work of [illegible] the river, hid among the reeds on the edge of the water until daylight came, when he returned to his home. This he did for several weeks, until the search for him became so close that the fear of detection induced him to fly to Fort Powhatan for protection. After waiting there three weeks his family rejoined him, and they altogether were forwarded from thence to this city. Mr. Burton states that a neighbor of theirs who lived in the adjoining county having returned home recently, after faithfully serving the Confederacy as a soldier for three years, was inhumanly butchered because he refused to re-enter the service. Mrs. Burton had a sister residing in Philadelphia, but she has no certainty of finding her. Thanks to the Christian liberality of the American people, the Home of the United States Sanitary Commission will remain the home of the poor destitute mother and six children (one only three months old) until something of a permanent self-sustaining character can be found for them."

"Come here, my little man," said a gentleman to a youngster of four years of age, while sitting in the parlor where a large company were assembled. "Do you know me!"

"Yes, sir, I think I do."

"Who am I, then? let me know."

"You are the man that kissed Jane last night in the parlor."

"I came off with flying colors," as the painter said when he fell from the ladder with a palette on his thumb.

The Daily Union Vedette.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 9, 1865.

Where is the Danger.

For a purpose one would suppose sufficiently apparent, the Mormon Church Leaders are in the habit of periodically frightening the community out of all propriety by false alarms of some nameless danger hovering to descend, while they, like vigilant shanghais conscious of their duty to defend the hedgeling, make a most ridiculous show of protecting their brood from the talons of the predatory hawk, which, however, invariably proves to be nothing after all only a harmless creature of their own creation.

The imaginary bird of prey don't pounce as was expected, the poultry is all safe, there has been a deal of cackling all to no purpose, but no matter, the next leaf that rustles, the next tossed by the wind, the same farce is enacted with little variation, the next telescopic horseman, in whom Brigham's magnifying fears discern a messenger of death, or something equally terrible, up goes the signal of distress over the "Lion House," and, pell-mell, everybody rushes to the rescue. One would think that this false hue and cry of "wolf," "wolf," would by and bye be heard without alarm and fall on incredulous ears. Several instances, we know not how many, of the kind mentioned, have come under our own observation, and yet, though badly frightened, nobody has been hurt, indeed, we could not help laughing "consumedly" all the while, for we knew that nobody was going to be.

Now, what is all this fanfaronade about; for notwithstanding it is without cause, it has an object you may be sure. The very fact that it is causeless demonstrates one of two things, and perhaps [illegible] od in their madness,' a latent purpose, which it needs no prophet to discern.

We believe the truth lies between these two suppositions, and that while they desire their dupes to believe themselves in danger, their voluble tongues are only garrulous of their own guilty fears, which conjure up, in minds ill at ease, unpalpable terrors that will not let them rest without repeated assurances of ready succor from the shadows which destroy their peace. Having led their deluded followers into a wilderness of errors, they must continue to frighten their souls by false clamors to keep them in the dicipline of fearful expectancy, else, maybap, some bold wanderers might stray beyond their control and discover the imposible fact, that the rest of mankind are not a pack of ravenous wolves, and that really there was not so much at which to be terrified after all. Now, we desire to address ourselves direct to the people of Utah. We do not attempt to disguise our design to come between them and false prophets of evil, whose oracles are ever croaking of dangers that have no existence for the innocent, and uttering ominous warnings of coming calamities that never arrive. Herein we are indirectly interested. In all the foreboding pictures, of which their turbid imaginations are so prolific, the Government is invariably represented in the dim background, as an obscene shadowy horror, with sidelong glances of hate, that frowns unutterable things with looks of portentuous meaning. More near are seen, whatever agents chance to be clothed with its authority, men whose mission is disaster, the immediate and inevitable ministers of unmitigated ill. We desire to illuminate these shadowy terrors and dissipate their unsubstantial nothingness; and to show the people that the scare-crow devils, hung up to terrify them, are men of straw and not things of actual existence.

We tell them, and challenge successful denial, that neither the government nor its representatives, here or elsewhere, have ulterior designs upon their welfare or their happiness, but with all who are mindful of their duties as citizens, we will sympathise in their hard struggles with fortune, and rejoice with them in their prosperity. Let them ask themselves, and demand of those who are so assiduous in defaming the government, to show where it has even visited the people, or any except rebellious traitors, with aught except benefits and protection. Much more, more, does it seek to promote their true interests and common weal, than do those who are untiring in the criminal work of misrepresentation and national defamation, while ruthlessly wringing from the meager substance of penury that which it has plucked from the unwilling hand of fortune by sore labor and incessant toil.

This is the price the people pay for being deceived. The wages of averice and infamy, extorted from the credulous many for the agrandizement of a soulless few. This, however, is a topic upon which we intend to dilate more fully at some future time, and meanwhile desire the people to ponder well, that which we have already written.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

New York, January 6th.

The Times has a special dated at Huntsville, Ala., which says, the Tenn. campaign is ended. The last of Hood's army crossed the Tenn. river on the 29th ult. with eight pieces of artillery and about 18,000 men. He left Macon with 35,000 and was re-inforced with 5,000, and had 110 pieces of artillery. After the battle of Nashville both ar[illegible] were stubbornly resisting pursuit during the day. It is believed that Hood has buried or thrown into the river at least thirty guns. He abandoned a large number of wagons and ambulances. Our official list of prisoners number 9,900—not including 500 captured from Roddy on the 27th. Over 900 deserters have also reported. It is said that Hood is going to Meridan, Miss. to attempt re-organizafion. The chase in force has been abondoned, although, Steadman is across the river with orders to harrass him and capture as much as possible. The new campaign is already prosecuted and the corps of Wood, Smith and Schofield are already moving.

New York, Jan. 7th.

The Tribune's Norfolk correspondent says, of the Wilmington expedition, that the transports were off Fort Fisher three days before the war ships arrived, in good weather, and the enemy was known to be in full force, and that their coal was exhausted and they had to return to Beaufort, leaving again as soon as possible, and that without waiting for their return as agreed Porter exploded the powder-boat and opened fire, and that the troops were to land when the powder-boat was exploded and take advantage of the shock produced, and that when the troops did land, Weitzel found the Fort uninjured and an assaulting party would meet with a more bloody repulse than at Fort Wagner. He advised the withdrawal, to which Butler assented.

Cincinnati, Jan. 7th.

Resolutions were introduced in both Houses of the Kentucky Legislature, Yesterday, declaring for the immediate abolition of slavery. Gov Bramlett, in a Message, recommended the gradual emancipation and the ultimate removal of slaves, and rejoices over, and thanks Sherman and Thomas for their victories, and denounces the arrest of Col. Walford and Lieut.-Gov. Jacobs, and says, his object in attempting to regulate the enlistments of slaves was not to save the institution, but the people of Kentucky from unnecessary burden in its accomplishment. Kentucky has furnished nearly seventy thousand soldiers to the U. S. army.

New York, Jan. 6th.

The brig Arabella, hence for Aspinwall, was totally lost, Nov. 23d, on Miraguana reef; her cargo was saved, but damaged.

Baltimore, Jan. 6th.

The California, from Hilton Head, arrived at Fort. Monroe yesterday with Col. Ewing, bearer of dispatches from Sherman. His army was resting and preparing for a great campaign. Kilpatrick is actively watching Hardee.

Portland, Jan. 6th.

The steamer Potomac, from New York for Portland, took fire this morning, off Cape Elizabeth and burned rapidly. The officers, crew and passengers were taken off by a fisherman and have arrived here. Four lives were lost.

New York, Jan. 6th.

It would appear that the destruction of the Gulf Railroad by Sherman struck a staggering blow at Richmond.

The Post has seen a private letter from a citizen of Savannah which states, on the authority of an officer of that road, that it supplied Lee's army up to the time it was broke, with 11,000 head of cattle per week, the cattle coming from Florida and southern Alabama. There is reason to believe, from information in possession of the residents of Savannah, that Lee has not thirty days supplies on hand.

New York, Jan. 6th.

The Richmond Whig proposes to declare the ports of Northern States under rebel blockade, and subject all English [illegible]

The Captain of the ship Kate Prince says she was captured and bonded by the pirate Shenandoah, and says the Shenandoah was not armed for fighting, but only for the destruction of ships. She was purchased in England at nearly twice her value, with the understanding she was to be fitted out as a pirate; she is 1,100 tons burden and can run about eleven knots per hour, and has a crew of forty-three, nearly of whom are Englishmen.

The Herald's special says: Butler's report of the Wilmington expedition has been received at the War Department and is very lengthy. It tends to exculpate Butler from the responsibility of the failure, and is understood to reflect seriously on Admiral Porter.

A Washington special says: Considerable pressure is being brought to bear in the Senate to defeat the bill for the abrogation of the Canadian reciprocity treaty.

Official dispatches show that the people of Savannah are more loyal than those of any rebel city yet captured. A brother of Gen. Hardee, a resident of Savannah, is said to be decidedly in favor of the restoration of the Union.

Rebel papers have news that Hood defeated Thomas at Columbia, capturing a brigade of our men, and at the same time Forrest captured an entire brigade of caxalry and 600 wagons. Forrest has been made Lieut.-General.

The Richmond Sentinel of the 3d, has a long account of the repulse of the Union expedition up the Roanoke river, and claims that six of our gunboats were destroyed by torpedoes and nearly 1,000 men killed. Our account says one gunboat and four or five barges were lost and nearly all the persons on board escaped.

New York, Jan. 7th.

The Herald's Washington correspondent says is it rumored there that Lee had been placed in command of all the rebel armies, and had put Beauregard in command of the defences of Richmond, intending himself to proceed to South Carolina, to concentrate the rebel forces in that quarter. Sherman's movements was considered by Lee as of far more importance than any that Grant can make upon Richmond in four months.

Montreal, Jan. 7th.

The Court decided to-day that it had jurisdiction in the case of the St. Albins raiders and the case will proceed.

New York, Jan. 7th.

A Wilmington correspondent of the Richmond Despatch says: Our forces were at one time between Fort Fisher and Wilmington, cutting off the communication both by land and water, if they had not been dislodged, and Fort Fisher would soon have fallen as Fort Morgan did, and with its fall the fate of Wilmington would have been sealed.

The Richmond Sentinel says the North is becoming bankrupt, by which the South is sure to gain its independence.

The Charleston Mercury of the 31st says: Sherman has reinforced Foster's expedition against the Charleston and Savannah railroad. The Augusta Register first confirms the report, saying that Foster's batteries have been increased.

The Richmond Despatch of the 4th says: It wont be surprised at any moment to learn that Sherman is on the march.

The Sentinel urged the modification of the railroad system in Georgia, and says the South Carolina lines are now run just where they should not be, that is they are run too close to Sherman's army, and as the latter cannot be moved, the former ought to be.

Nashville, Jan. 7th.

Taylor's rebel forces occupied Owensburg till Friday, conscripting citizens and firing upon steamers, when they left.

guerrillas have possession of Owensburg, Hayesville, Cloverport and Henderson.

The Lebanon train was captured by a band of Magruder's guerrillas, near Lebanon Junction, yesterday afternoon. The passengers were robbed, and the cars burned. The rebels brutally murdered five discharged soldiers of the 15th Kentucky.

Taylor has established his head-quarters at Howesville, and citizens are fleeing across the Ohio river to avoid conscription.

Memphis, Jan. 3d.

Gen. Dana received information from his cavalry force sent out from here on the 21st. They struck the Mobile and Ohio railroad, five miles below Corinth, and had, on the 27th, utterly destroyed it to below Okolona. Twenty-nine bridges, a great amount of trestle work, thirty-two cars, 300 army wagons, and 4,000 carbines were destroyed. Forrest's camp of dismounted men at Verona, was dispersed, and six officers and twenty men were captured. Grierson has orders to destroy the road as far as Meridian, and release our prisoners at Cahawaba if possible.

Washington, Jan. 7th.

A letter from Loudon county, Va., says the cavalry from Sheridan's army visited the neighborhood of Upperville and Middleburg on the 27th, and destroyed and carried away a considerable amount of property belonging to the rebels in that neighborhood.

New York, Jan. 7th.

Late rebel papers show that the fight between the Jeff Davis and anti-Jeff Davis factions is constantly growing more sanguinary. Those opposed to Davis accuse him in the most open and vehement manner as being the cause of all their recent disasters. They in turn are charged by Jeff's organs with destroying the confidence in the ability of the Confederacy to achieve its independence, and preventing the full enforcement of the conscription, and the encouragement of deserters.

The Herald's letters from Buenos Ayers of the 12th says: The war pressure of Brazil in Urguay was likely to effect the obliteration of the republic, unless its executive was aided by strong foreign power.

The Richmond Whig, on an article in England, says: She has no ships that could encounter the Yankee monitors with any prospect of success, although she might build such yet. The probability is that they could not cross the ocean. She could not even break up the blockade, and far less send an army or fleet here to assist us. It is, therefore, hardly worth while to think of resorting to English vassalage.

A Washington letter says, the entire lot of cotton captured at Savannah will be shipped to England, and the claims of English owners are to be examined and judged upon by Mr. Draper, the Gov't agent at Savannah, who will have Savannah immediately opened as a port of entry.

The same letter says, the rebels are preparing to detach a force from Lee's army to operate against Sherman, on the supposition that Grant can be held in check by a small force for the present.

Parties recently from the South, think the recent article in the Richmond papers on the subject of its becoming a colony for foreign powers, was put forth to feel the temper of the people. The opinion expressed by a majority of the people will oppose the plan and prefer to an unconditional return to the Union. Southern sympathisers say, the article will be the cause of much discontent and a lack of confidence in Jeff. Davis.

The Richmond Dispatch speaking of the bombardment of Fort Fisher, says such a rain of shot and shell never before fell upon any spot upon earth since [illegible] lish Naval officer who was with Sir Charles Napier, in the Baltic and and at Sebastapol, says, the fire exceeded anything he had ever seen.

"NITS MAKE LICE."—This forcible and expressive, yet elegant and classical enunciation, attributed to a notorious "squawkilling" General, is eagerly adopted, as both text and apology, by the believers in and apostles of the squaw and papoose killing doctrine.

We clip the above elegant extract from a Mormon sheet down town. As Gen. Jackson, the old hero, is the only person whom the expression at the head of the article was ever attributed, in connection with exterminating hostile savages, our cotemporary exhibits its wonted bad taste, but inevitable instincts, in referring to him as "a squawkilling general." The fling, however, is timely, as yesterday was the 8th of January, celebrated all over the world as the old hero's victory over the Britishers at New Orleans. The sting of British defeat has not yet died out in the hearts of the decendants of those who ran away from New Orleans, we should judge from the above article.

RICH.—A man living a short distance from El Dorado, on going to town, scraped the mud from his boots and seeing the color panned it out and found a dollar in gold dust.—San Andreas Register.

RICHER.—Dave Buel, on walking from Upper to Lower Austin, scraped his boots and found a ton and a half of dirt. He had been running for Governor on the Democratic ticket, you see.—Carson Post.

RICHEST.—Brigham says that he can stand in his door and look out upon a gold mine richer than Golconda. On the other hand his apostles swear that the silver veins of Rush Valley are "all in their eye."

WHY is a Chinaman the queerest creature known? Because head and tail are on the same end.—Ex.

That is but another illustration of the old adge that "extremes meet."

Local Matters.

From a letter received at this post om Ellis C. Freeman, formerly a Corral in Company D, Capt. W. M. Johns, Reg't Infantry, C. V., who was discharged at this post in the early part October last, we learn that he has enlisted in Gen. Hancock's Veteran orps. This is, we believe, the first inance of an enlistment in that corps by discharged C. V., and to the "gallant ird" belongs the honor of having the t representative in that corps from California Volunteers.

The S. F. Flag says: Billy Sheppards deliniator of negro character, is making fun for the Mormons, in the Varieties Theater at Salt Lake City.

Not quite, Mr. Flagman, Billy is ingnant and avows that he is no such n. He is holding forth at the Camp Douglas Theater, where patriotic songs the thing; and the uniform of Uncle is not sufficient to exclude an applicant for admission. Billy don't play any City theater, and if the Court ows herself, don't intend to.

The enterprising firm of Walker Bro's e established a second store in the y; also have a "branch" at Fort ittenden.

The immense stock of goods which this m import and export at fair prices s placed them in a tide of prosperity ich they well deserve. They are now nting Lumber, Grain and Produce at ir Store, where farmers and lumberwing people can dispose of their mmodities at a good advantage.

The "Union Varieties" will delight r theatre going folks again this evening. Their stock of burlesques, fun d wit is inexhaustible. If you don't lieve it, go to night and see Billy. iggs, Cook and Smith and you will er say you're sorry that you went.

Any one finding the Voucher for $130, t by Capt. Westbrook, of Camp Douglas, will please return the same to his ice. Payment of the same has been rohibited.

The New Year was greeted at Fort ridger by a salute of thirteen guns.

Married.—In Suisun City, Dec. 26th, by Rev. Mr. Urmy, Captain E. N. Runyon, U. S. Volunteers, to Emma L. Wing, of Suisun.

The above we take from the Sacramento Union. We wish the happy couple long years of connubial bliss, and many of them. We knew that the gallant captain had flitted off to California, but the above was the first we heard of his taking wing in just that way. He is not the first officer in the service who has been winged, but we guess he'll recover.

Off for Salt Lake City.—Messrs. Keith & Cook, our well known livery men, are sending out a complete livery outfit to the City of the Saints, consisting of fine, fast horses, fine buggies, hacks, carriages, and all the etceteras for a first class livery establishment which they intend to open and permanently run in that metropolis of Mormondom. This will be good news for the pleasure-loving saints as well as the thousands of fast gentiles that are settling in that city.—Denver News.

Col. Kit Carson, with a few companies of the First New Mexico cavalry, run against a band of 1,000 Indians, Kiowas and Comanches, on Red river, south of the road from Fort Union to the States, and got badly repulsed. He had to fight his way back, retreating all of a whole day.—Denver News.

A Pony Express.—The Gold Hill News of December 22d says: Latham, of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, informs us that a Pony Express will be started either to-morrow or Monday. The Express will leave Virginia every afternoon at one o'clock, carrying letters and small parcels.

Coin—$15.
Dust—Virginia $35.50; Boise $33.

LOST.

SOMEWHERE between Camp Douglas and S. L. City, a Voucher of $130 50, in favor of E. S. Davis, for services rendered while employed as a painter in the Quartermasters Department. Said Voucher is numbered 2, 48 the corner, with red ink.

This Voucher will not be paid by any Quartermaster, as it is not properly Registered.

ARTIFICIAL TAILS. — The mole-killer of Monthey, in the Valais, in Switzerland, was recently taken before the correctional tribunal of that place on a charge of swindling the authorities, which he effected in an ingenius manner. The destryers of those animals received a certain sum for each, but they are not bound to present the bodies in order to obtain the reward, but only the tails. The man in question delivered not less than 2,000, and received a sum of 300f. Surprise was felt at the number, and on close examination a great many were found to be artificial, manufactured by gumming a strip of the animal's skin on a bit of wire covered with paper. The tail maker was condemned to three months' imprisonment.

MURDER NEAR FREEHOLD, (N. J.) On the night of the 17th of Nov., John Jurgen Meinken, of Freehold, (N. J.,) was murdered and his body secreted under a stack of hay on the farm of R. S. Hartshorne, near that place. He was robbed of twelve hundred dollars in gold, and is supposed to have been enticed from his home on pretense of seeing a farm which was for sale. The Governor of the State offers a reward of three hundred dollars cash, upon conviction, for two men who are strogly suspected of having committed the crime.

BY THIS SIGN WE CONQUER.

"Whenever the way seems long,
Or the heart begins to fail,
We sing a more wonderful song,
And tell a more marvelous tale."

January 1, 1865.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY
OF
THE NEW YORK MERCURY.

THE PRIDE OF THE FIRESIDE.

In the prime of a vigorous intellectual manhood, the Phœnix of the weeklies begins its flight for the new year, over the wrecks of its flagging and lifeless contemporaries, with its eye fixed upon the sun, beneath which it owns no rivalry.

The war, which has toppled down whatever is shallow and baseless, has written no failure on the bright ægis of our success. Our features for the issue of 1865 shake the pillars of whatever has heretofore been deemed impe ial in serial literature. Both sides of the Atlantic render us tribute. We shall continue the thrilling romances of Miss M. E. BRADDON, necromancer of the strong dark passions, to whom we pay more money annually than the entire capital of our imitators, and add to our American staff the champion jester of the cap and bells, JOSH BILLINGS, who will commence with the first of January a series of his well-known inimitable comic papers, written expressly for us, in his irresistably convulsive vein. HARRIET E. PRESCOTT, the most polished and imaginative sketch-writer living; P. T. BARNUM the world-famed showman and autobiographer; Miss M. A. MAYO, FAIRFAX BALFOUR, DR. J. H. ROBINSON, and "NED BUNTLINE," renowned and versatile novelette-writers, will eke out the sparkling contributions of such facile poets, fulletonists, humorists, critics, travelers, paragraphists, etc., as GEORGE ARNOLD, W. O. EATON, MILLIE W. CARPENTER, GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND, JULIA S. INGRAHAM, EDWARD WILLETT, GEORGE MARTIAL, JOSEPH BARSIN, J. A. PETER, and others, numerous enough and clever enough to run all the newspapers on the Continent.

The vivid pencils of DARLEY, MCLENAN, and WHITE, the first draughtsmen of the age, will make the new volume pictorial, and whatever of fugitive or meteoric note may appear during the year, will at once be engaged and made available.

In addition to its crisp and telling editorials; its delectable Gossipers' Club, in which the aptest and wittiest poems, caricature, and burlesques of the time first appear; and its coquettish Ladies' Promenade, to which all the mothers, sweethearts, daughters, wives and widows of the land subscribe their experiences. THE NEW YORK MERCURY will continue the faithful and cogent

PHOTOGRAPHS OF POPULAR PEOPLE, highly illustrative of the oldest, ablest, and artfulest folk of the era; the GREAT FASHION ARTICLE, by JENNIE JUNE, whose sprightly notes upon the latest and most perfect New York modes are suggestive to leaders of society everywhere, and universally consulted both in the [illegible] throughout the country; and well as HINTS UPON COOKERY, by HENRY GOSLING, the metropolitan cuisinier.

The first of the year will inaugurate the thrilling original novelette by Doctor J. H ROBINSON, entitled; which will be followed by a splendid new story by Miss M E. BRADDON, written expressly for THE NEW YORK MERCURY.

ALETHE;
OR THE CHILD OF THE CORD,

Notwithstanding the upward march of every luxury and consumption, and our enormously increased outlay for the year 1865, the Star Paper of the Republic, with its forty columns of sterling original matter, will continue to be issued at six cents a copy, and sold by all newsmen and periodical-dealers in America. Its long and honorable history insures its subscribers against the casualties and fatalities which have swept so many mushroom journals off the board, and left their patrons disconsolate at the loss of their money.

To mail-subscribers our terms are:

Cash in advance: Single copies, $2.50 a year; three copies $7; six copies, $13; nine copies, $20. The party who sends us $20 for a club of nine copies will receive an additional copy free. Six months subscriptions received. Canada subscribers must send twenty cents extra for each subscription, to pay the American postage.

Subscribers should be careful to write plainly the name of their post-office, county and State. Specimen copies sent free to all applicants. Address, CAULDWELL & WHITNEY,
Proprietors of The New York Mercury,
Nos. 48 Ann street and 118 Fulton street,
New York City.

☞ Proprietors of Newspapers giving the above Prospectus five or more insertions, with an editorial notice will be entitled to have two copies of THE NEW YORK MERCURY sent for one year, to any address they may indicate.
